LECHO

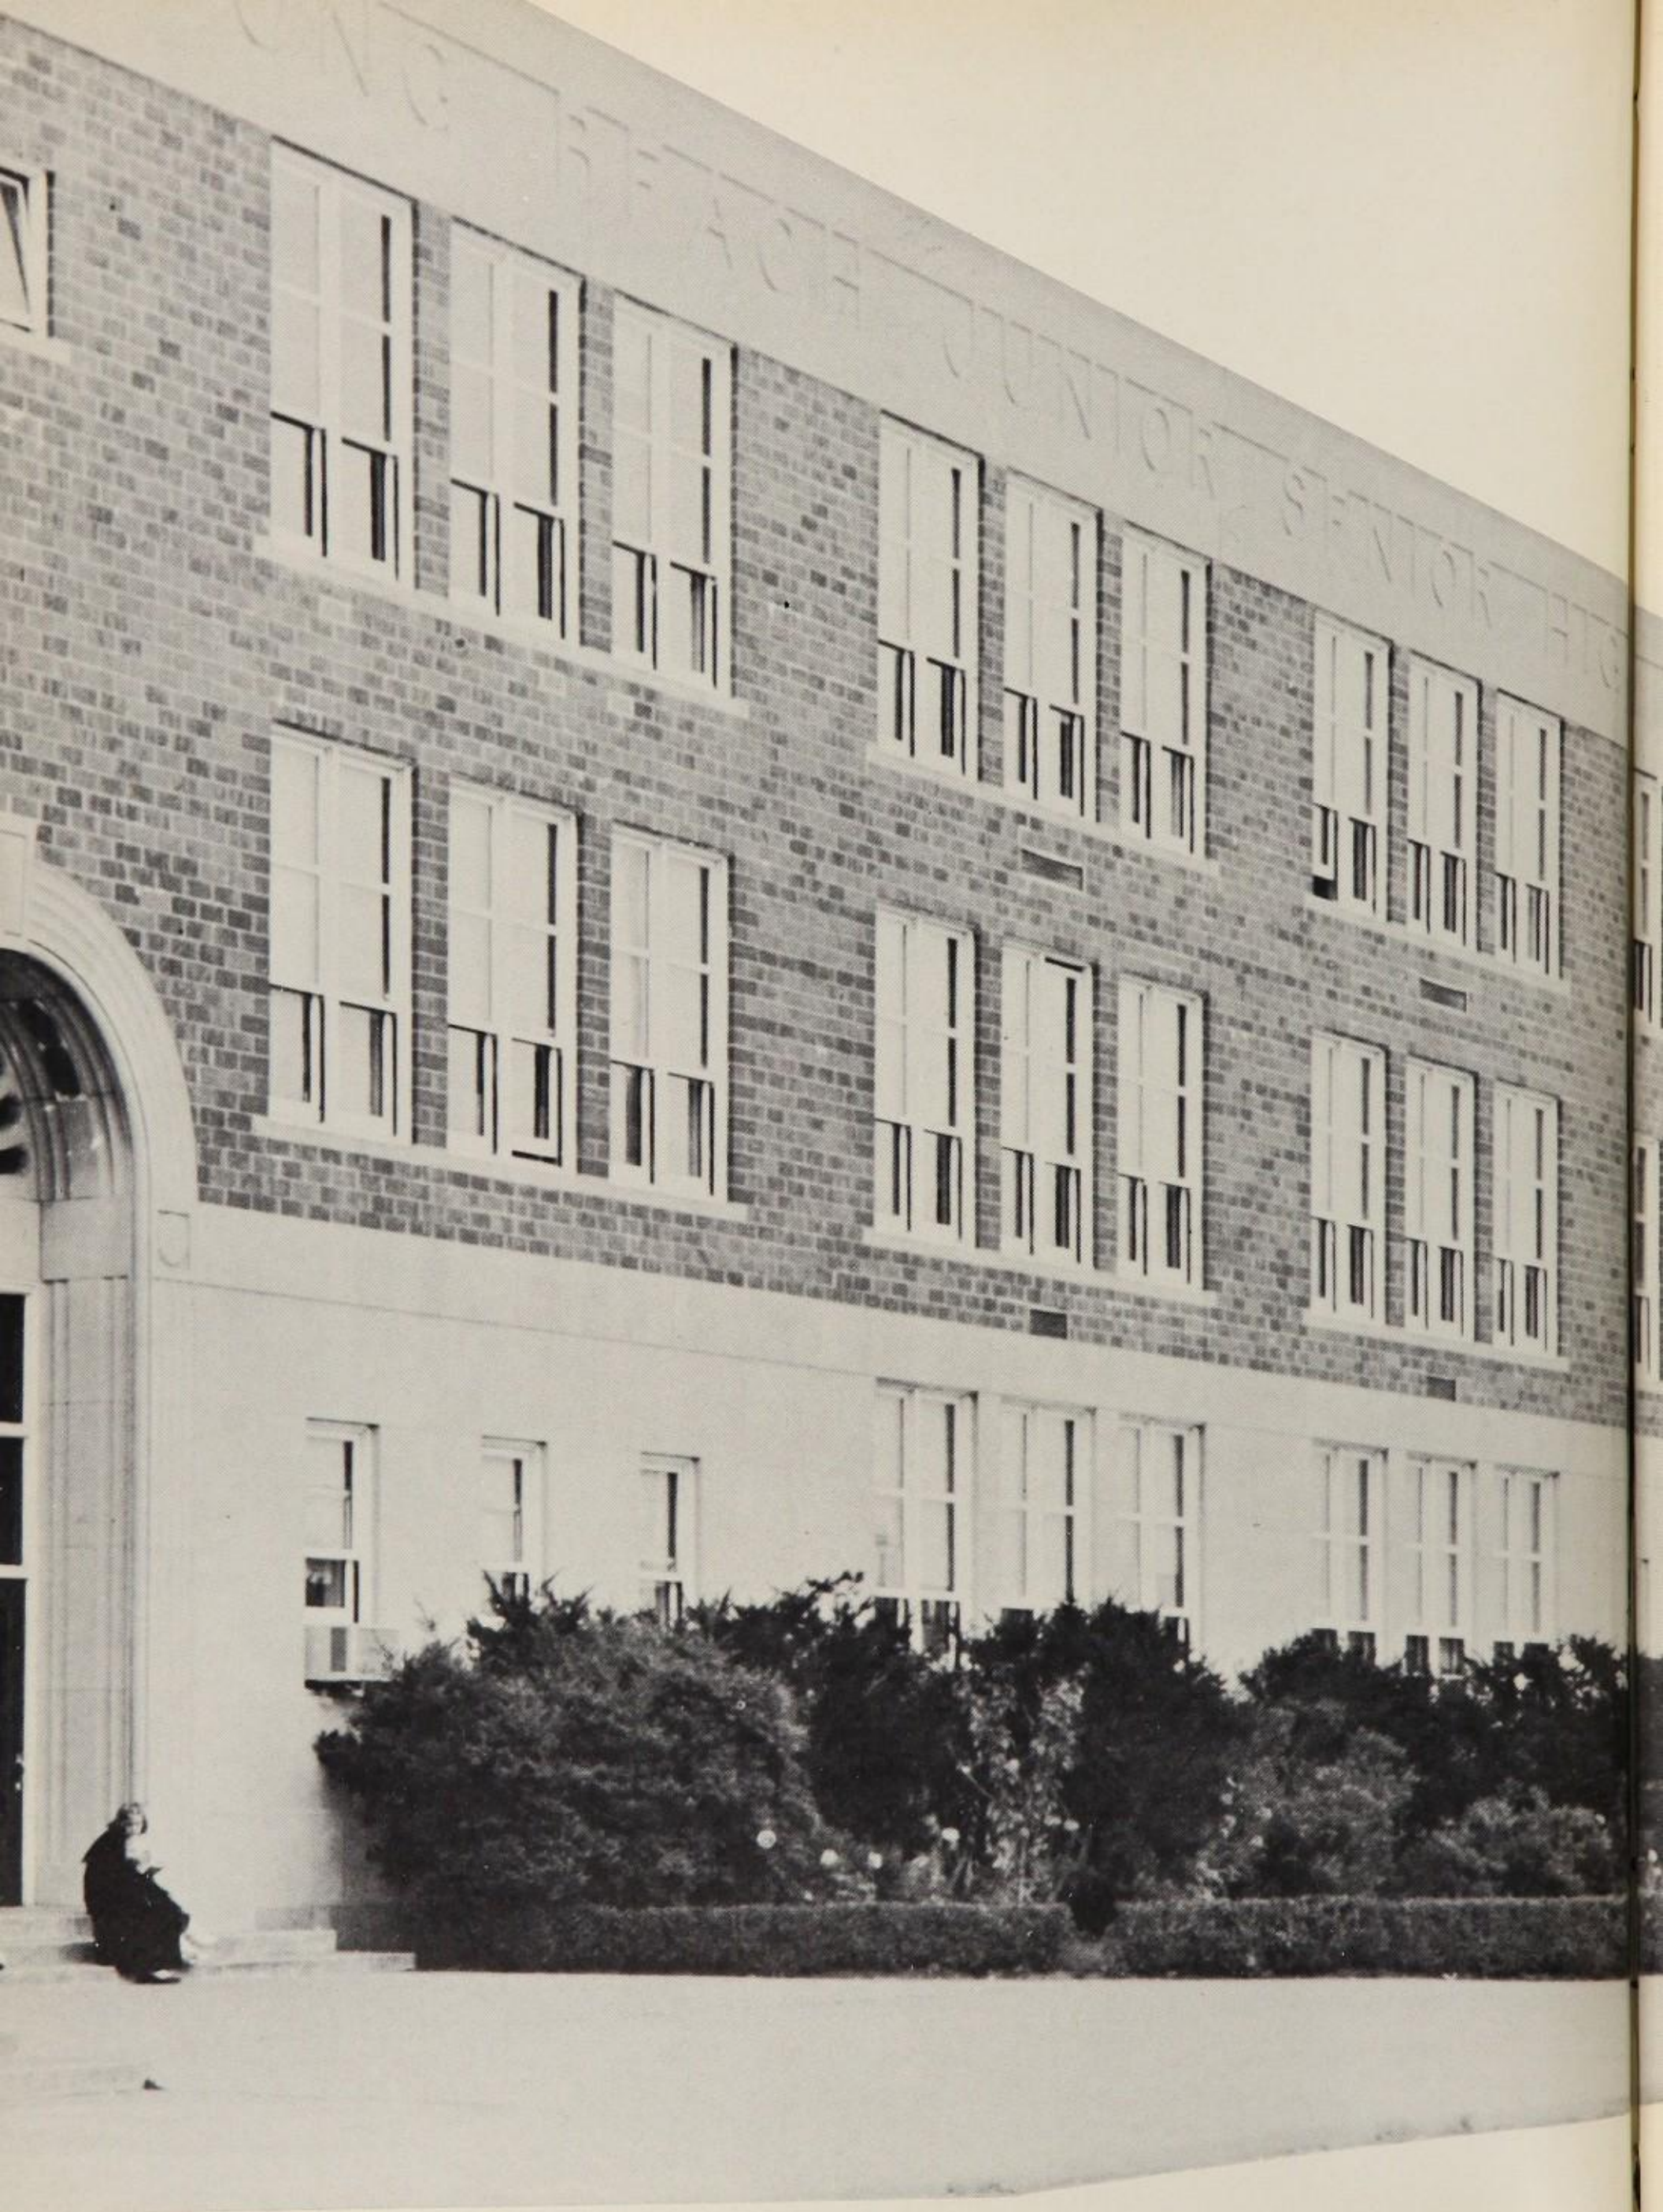

The heritage of the past is the seed that brings forth the harvest of the future.

In order to blossom forth in its maximum strength and beauty, into the glorious life that can be the future, this seed, like all embryonic life, requires intelligent care, fertile soil, warmth and time.

The soil, in reality, constitutes knowledge to nurture the seed of experience. The other essential ingredients might be correlated to awareness, attentiveness, enthusiasm, or even dedication. All these factors must be gainfully utilized at present, so that the factor of time may produce the fruit of success and happiness in the future.

Dedication

DR. JOSEPH A. KUHN

We, the graduating class of 1958, wish to express our thanks for the guidance and help we have received through the efforts of our advisor, Dr. Kuhn, who has aided us in the preparation for our future endeavors.

To you, Dr. Kuhn, we dedicate the 1958 Echo.

MR. JOSEPH BORZILLERI

DEAR SENIORS,

It must be thrilling and challenging for you to know that America is attaching such importance to our high school graduates. Graduates have always been important but the spotlight shines on you today stronger than ever before. It is to you that our country is looking for the "know-how" and the leadership so necessary that we may survive the pressures from without.

These things will not come to pass tomorrow or the next day but the direction to those ends is yours to begin from the moment you leave this school.

We have attempted to prepare you for what lies ahead; we have tried to awaken you to your responsibilities toward yourselves, your homes and your nation—we sincerely wish you God speed, good health and untold success.

MY DEAR GRADUATES,

Your principal and superintendent have spoken to me about the outstandingly fine academic record of the class of 1958. Since past performance is the best indication of achievement yet to come, I am confident that the future of the Long Beach graduates is a bright one.

This year marks my twelfth year of service with the Board of Education. This means I have had the opportunity to watch the growth of many of you since you entered kindergarten. The joy and pride in your accomplishments which I share with your parents is the greatest reward this community can give me.

MY DEAR GRADUATES,

We live in an age of astonishing rapid change. All of you were born into a world which had not yet achieved atomic energy. When you graduate in June, man will be regarding as commonplace the miracle of experimental animals in instrumented satellites whirling around the earth in outer space.

Only ideas are imperishable in this all-changing world. The greatest of these ideas relate to man's adventurous spirit, his ardent love of freedom and justice, his feelings of fellowship and sympathy for every living creature.

Congratulations and best wishes to you and your parents.

Echo Staffs

Years from now, when we, the seniors of 1958, have established positions in life, we will look back on our high school days with pleasure. We will remember these four years as a preparation to leave the life of young school children, and to begin a new life of young adulthood.

The Echo staff has tried to make this yearbook a true and clear reflection of these four years, so, in time to come, it will bring us nostalgic echoes of the past.

 Our future is but in tomorrow's day.
 We go to do what man has not yet dared
 There are only the fruits of life for those who are

 Some will sweat and toil, some will harvest barren

 But all give thanks for the opportunity they have

 The opportunity of a full and rich High School

Ideas . . . thoughts . . . these may be represented in many ways—a word, a phrase, a line, a great book. By reading the works of great masters, we are delving into the minds of thinking people. We are gaining experience upon which we will base our future actions.

Looking back upon our high school days, we will remember many books that served as wonderful companions, many compositions that were outlets for our thoughts. Most important of all, we will recall words that will recreate the treasures of the past, illuminate the joys of the present, and color our dreams of the future.

Drama Class

Deep within us all is a desire to be creative; To produce or form works of great thought and imagination, especially those which pertain to the arts. The personification of this creativity is the theatrical performer who reaches vast heights in the dramatic field.

Stars, however, aren't made overnight. Ambition, desire, hard work, and years of study go into the making of the future thespian of the entertainment world. Methods and techniques of acting are made known to the student in his drama class, (such as that of L. B. H. S.)

Thus, in time the drama student is able to emulate and develop understanding for his various roles. He's then able to live the parts he is playing, and project this same feeling to his audience. There, before the foot-lights, in this magical world of fantasy, he becomes an actor in his own right; a possible star of the future.

The TIDE

From the time the Long Beach High School "Tide" was first published in the early 1930's, its principal function has been to report and interpret accurately the news of the school and the community.

Through the years the paper has grown from its original four page form into a six page paper published monthly. Showing a desire to keep up to date with modern trends in the journalism field, the "Tide" is a member of both the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Nassau Scholastic Press Association. Both associations hold conferences each year which staff members attend to gain valuable information on publishing a school newspaper. Lecturers are prominent American journalists.

Working hand in hand with the "Tide" is the Long Beach Chapter of the Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists, the purpose of which is to "encourage and reward individual achievements in journalism and allied fields."

creative writing

Have you daydreams of becoming a well known author with your book number one on the bestseller list, or named as one of the great classics of our time? Of course, most people were not born with a pen in their hand and an inspiration in their head. However, there are ways of improving what ideas and thoughts they do possess and one such method is belonging to the Creative Writing Club, under the guidance of Mr. Howard Harrison.

This organization is designed to encourage budding authors to express themselves more maturely and clearly. This is accomplished by inviting professional authors to lecture on styles and methods of writing, and also, by having student conferences at which their writing is examined and criticized.

Their literary magazine, "Fragments," is the collection of stories, plays and poems which have been selected as the outstanding ones from those submitted by the members and anyone else who has written an interesting and enjoyable work.

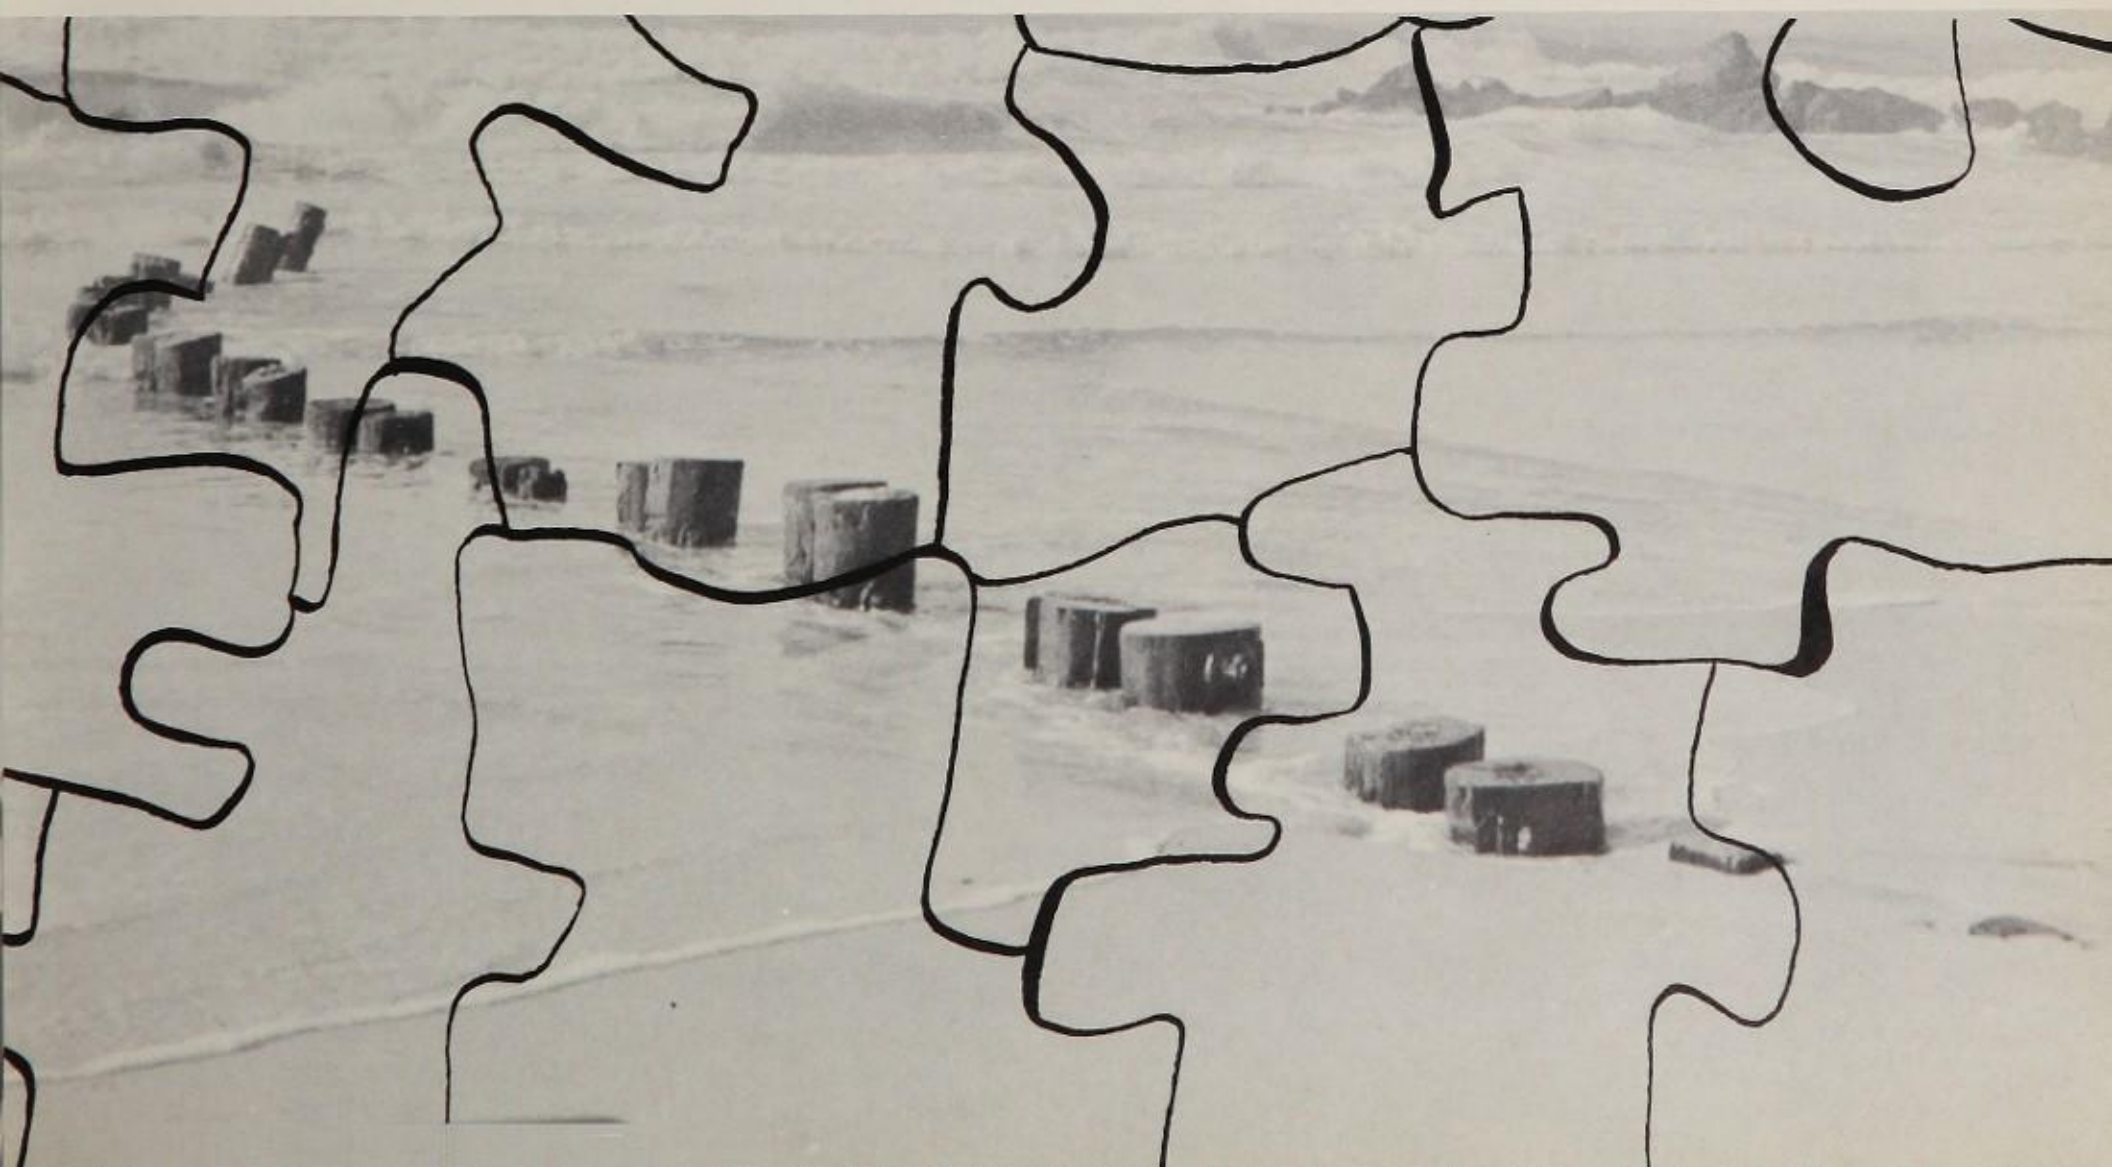

Our thoughts and minds are enriched with the help and knowledge we have received by being a part of the Creative Writing Club.

speech club

You can wriggle your ears, wave your hands, or raise your eyebrows, but the easiest way to express yourself is to speak. This is the aim behind the Speech Arts Club under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Baum. Through their various activities, the members of this club strive to increase their knowledge of the speech arts, to develop poise, to overcome stage fright, and to enunciate distinctly. Trips to a Perry Como rehearsal and play help to acquaint the members with the art of dramatics. An appreciation of poetry is reached by learning how to read poems properly. Poise is developed, and stage fright overcome, by participation in plays, and by the use of a tape recorder which is not only fun, but can also be profitable. It is called speech, and the aim is self expression.

Books . . . Books . . . more books . . . text books, periodicals, fiction, or non fiction, each has its place. By opening a book we may be transported back into time, across oceans, out into space, or we may gain the precious knowledge of historians, philosophers, or scientists. The library, under the supervision of our librarians, Mr. Edward Murphy and Mrs. Jerri Hand, is a vast storehouse of information and diversion.

The library staff, consisting of volunteers from the student body, is largely responsible for the efficiency which enables students and teachers alike to find what they are seeking quickly and easily. Aside from their regular duties of shelving and binding books, alphabetizing cards, and assisting at the desk, the staff goes on an annual trip for knowledge and pleasure.

Be it past, present, or future, books will always be important.

"Could you please tell me if my college application has been sent out." "What room is Mrs. Schultz in this period?" are common questions the students of Long Beach High School go into the office to ask Miss Rica Haberman, Miss Ruth Storch and Mrs. Eve Spielman. Like bees, each has her own job in their hive. These three women each keep one section of the office running on schedule. As in the past and as they will continue to be in the future, they are the school staff's right hands.

When temptation calls, and we're caught in the halls,
For cutting a class or two,
Something happens to you that can make you feel quite blue,
For when in the spring, when the weather is nice and love is as fresh as the grass
It's really no fun to be the only one sitting alone in class.
And who put us there because we lost care,
Well, I don't have to make any pretendance.
We all know the people who frustrated our pranks the people in the office of Attendance.

psychological services

Do you have a problem that you can not cope with? Well, the Psychological Office, which is located in the high school under the direction of Dr. Victor Elkin, was established for the function of helping students with their problems.

Many of us, when we become seniors, start thinking about what we would like to do in later life. Some students are able on their own to decide what they would like to do. Yet there are many students who are not able to do this. The Psychological Department has a system of tests which are given to the students. With these tests and the discussions with the students, the psychologists are able to tell what field the students are best fitted for. We will be forever grateful to Dr. Elkin and his assistants for helping us to overcome our problems. With the hope in the future of enlarging their facilities, the Psychological Department would like to help students more thoroughly.

When in doubt about a test, with nothing to say or do,
We went on a pilgrimage to the Health Office with a terrible case of the "flu."
Feverish and pale we went in shaking, only to be greeted with an "Okay, you're faking."
We never seemed to fool the nurse, though we looked like fugitives from a runaway hearse.
But besides our vain attempts to avoid a test, They treated our cuts, aches, and bruises to their very old best.
So may those who follow us remember this rule: Get sick in your home but not in the school.

History records these changes and gives us the "life story" of these things.

A person living in this day and age must be well informed, and the well informed senior belongs to the Forum Club. Belonging to one particular party, club, or organization does not stop him from expressing his views on any topic. There is a certain magic to foreign languages; a magic that brings us vivid pictures of faraway countries and strange customs; a magic that brings us an understanding of people who live in societies different from our own.

Even the monotonous grammar rules of foreign language have magical qualities, for it is certainly wonderful to open a book, written in a strange tongue, and find it intelligible and understandable.

The magic of foreign languages has given us the power to look into the minds and hearts of strangers. And, oh! what an important power, for doesn't understanding people ease prejudice and promote peace? A foreign language is the key that will open the doorway of human understanding.

joint induction

Following a new precedent the language honor societies held a joint induction again this year. At this impressive ceremony, presided over by Dr. Alda Pizzinger, the new members of the Latin, Hebrew, French, Spanish Honor Societies, and the newly formed Italian Honor Society were inducted. The inductees recited their society pledge. Highlighting the program was the entertainment presented by each group. The presence of Dr. Filippo Donini, Director of the Cultural Division of the Italian Embassy, and Mr. Roy E Mosher, Supervisor of Foreign Languages Education of the State Education Department, added much to an already eventful afternoon. The affair will long be remembered by the inductees and their parents.

JOINT INDUCTION

HEBREW HONOR SOCIETY

If you walk along the corridors and you hear students greet each other with "Shalom," they are probably members of the Hebrew Honor Society. They speak a language as old as the Bible, and as modern as the state of Israel, which is this year celebrating its tenth anniversary. Several of the members have enriched their classroom experiences with trips to Israel. At meetings the members sing songs in Hebrew and dance the Horas in ever widening circles.

These activities enable us to live a richer existence, to roam through three thousand years of historic happenings, and to obtain a better understanding of culture thousands of miles away in space and yet so much a part of us and our way of life.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The students of the Spanish Language in L. B. H. S. are indeed honored when, providing their average warrants it, they are invited to become a member of the Spanish Honor Society. The society upholds the fine standards of the Spanish class, gives students an incentive to attain scholastic achievements in the Spanish language, and develops an interest in Spanish and the Spanish-speaking people for the students within the society. Each and every Spanish student takes great pride in his newly acquired language, and feel a warmth and sincere friendship towards the people of the Spanish-speaking countries of the world.

Through the combined work of faculty advisor, Dr. Alda Pizzinger and qualified students the Society is able to plan many events. This year under the leadership of able officers the members hope to have a very successful year.

ITALIAN HONOR SOCIETY

Today more than ever the need for a variety of courses is essential in a high school. In order to keep up with the changing interests of students, our school has recently elaborated on the already broad selection of courses which it offers, by adding the Italian language, taught by Mr. John Ritaccio. This is the first year that the Italian Honor Society has been in existence and it promises to be a huge success. The main idea of the society is for the students to become acquainted with the culture and customs of Italy.

We often read of the glories of Ancient Rome and marvel at the high level of civilization they reached. What a wealth of ideas and customs they handed down to us.

Through the study of Latin and through the Latin Honor Society we can familiarize ourselves with Roman Civilization. The Trojan War, Roman Mythology, and the career of Julius Caesar are all placed within the realm of our understanding. What wondrous things meet our gaze as we look backwards in time. For just a little while we leave the present and are transported back, back to the splendor that was Ancient Rome.

Have you ever felt that your math was a puzzlement and that it wasn't worth the effort to complete? This puzzlement is one of the most important subjects taught at Long Beach High School, and, as you found out, can be easily solved if you know the rules. No matter what aspect of math you took, whether Geometry, Algebra, Trigonometry or just plain General Arithmetic, you realized that it was a necessary part of your education. The Math Department of Long Beach High School aims to teach the student basic forms of math and also to help him to think things out. So, whether a future engineer, miner, or just plain housewife, as a graduate, you will never forget the importance of the Math Department and its fine teaching staff.

Since the days of Euclid, Math has played an important part in man's way of living. Although it may seem unbelievable to some people, there are many men and women who have enjoyed and ones who will still enjoy the study of Mathematics. The Math club in our school is a shining example of this. It is composed of students who have great ability in this field and who like to demonstrate their understanding of it. Just as the person who likes to play cards or checkers, this team enjoys working out difficult problems. These people will, in the future, be our answer to the Sputnik forces.

In his senior year the Long Beach High School Student finds himself at the climax of his science studies. He has battled with every mixture, solution, element, and compound he thinks there can possibly be. Through his experiences in General Science, Biology, perhaps Earth Science, Physical Science or Physics, and then Chemistry, the student has realized the important role science has already played in the past and will continue to play in the future. With the arrival of earth satellites and rockets to the moon, the student and future scientist find a new field of study awaiting them. Therefore, upon completion of his high school science program a student is more adequately prepared to face the world in which science plays such an important role.

SCIENCE CLUB

Biology, Physics, and Chemistry! Atoms and molecules! Cells and reproduction! Students interested in the above topics find themselves joining and participating in an extra-curricular activity known as the Science club. Here, future Scientists, Engineers, and Doctors gather to discuss and experiment in these fields of endeavor. Through practical application and special lecture programs, the members are given a chance to discover, learn, and even teach to their fellow members, worthwhile information concerning today's scientific world. Programs on varied subjects are planned each week by the students within the club, and groups of students, working together, present them.

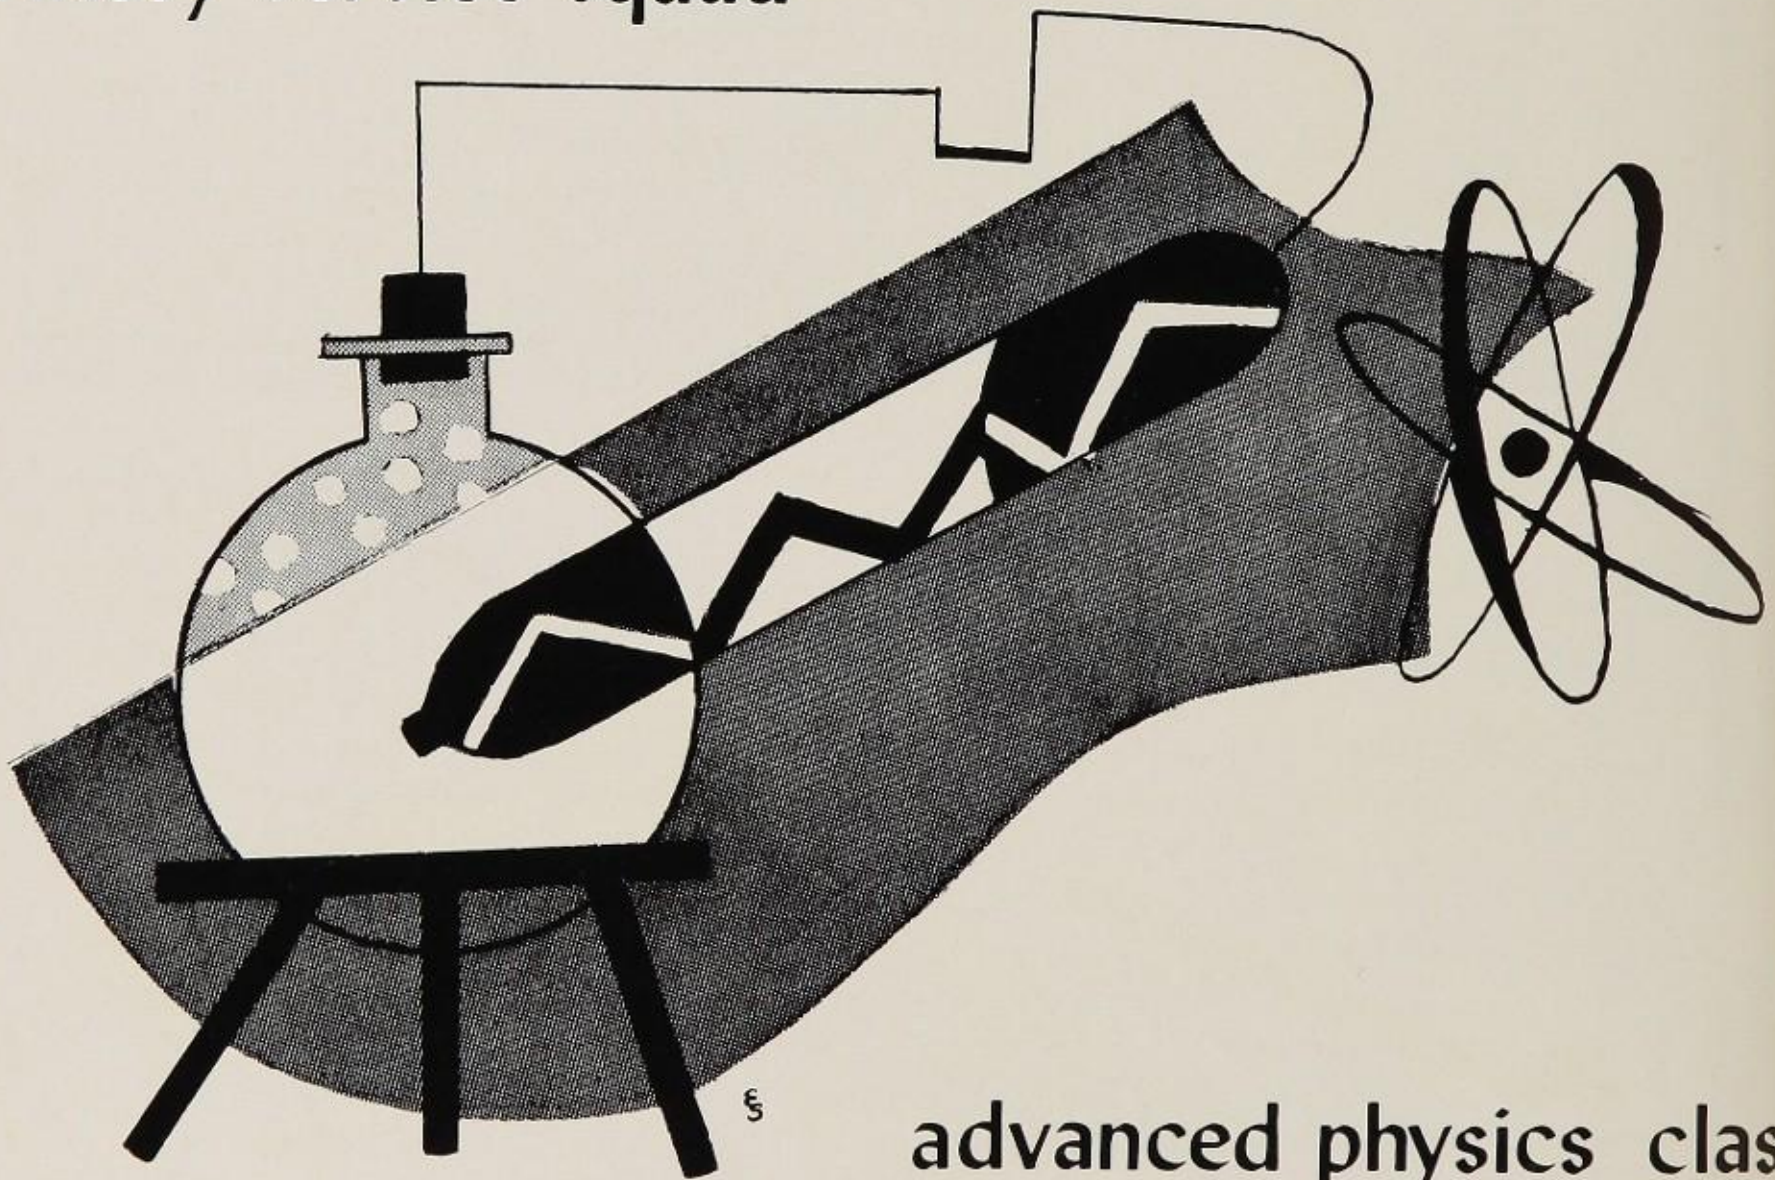

The club's fundamental basis is to interest and nurture the development in science within the youth of Long Beach High School. There is an ever-increasing need for individuals to make science their career, as we see with the coming of rocket-missile age. With the able guidance of the club's faculty advisor, Mr. Thier, students are encouraged to work on individual projects, which are submitted to the annual Science Congress. Work, effort and originality go into the making of these projects. Through the work accomplished in the Science club, not only does the student profit and benefit, but in all probability science does too.

For those interested in science, the Laboratory Service Squad has been a good source of experience and knowledge. Under the supervision of Mr. Mortimer Schultz, students have received valuable training in the use of scientific materials. Learning to set up experiments is very important to those who plan a career in science. Scientific methods are practiced; constructive work is encouraged.

Students on Lab Service Squad get experience in working as a group in a scientific manner. This has proven a valuable asset for those who find themselves entering the vast world of science.

To accommodate the growing interest of students in the field of science, a new group has been formed, the Advanced Physics Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Herbert Thier, the students tackled problems that are not on the ordinary physics curriculum. The group followed the individual interests of each member. Discussions ranging from color television to Sputnik were held, and projects were planned and carried out.

The Advanced Physics club has been not only an outgrowth of physics as taught in school, but also a source of preparation for those students who plan to embark on a scientific career.

Mechanical drawing, printing, metal working and art are among the excellent courses offered by the Industrial Arts Department. Although many of the subjects offered are for those who wish to enter a trade upon graduating from high school, several courses are offered for those wishing to enter a specialized field requiring a college education. Among these are mechanical drawing and industrial design which prepare students for careers in architecture and engineering.

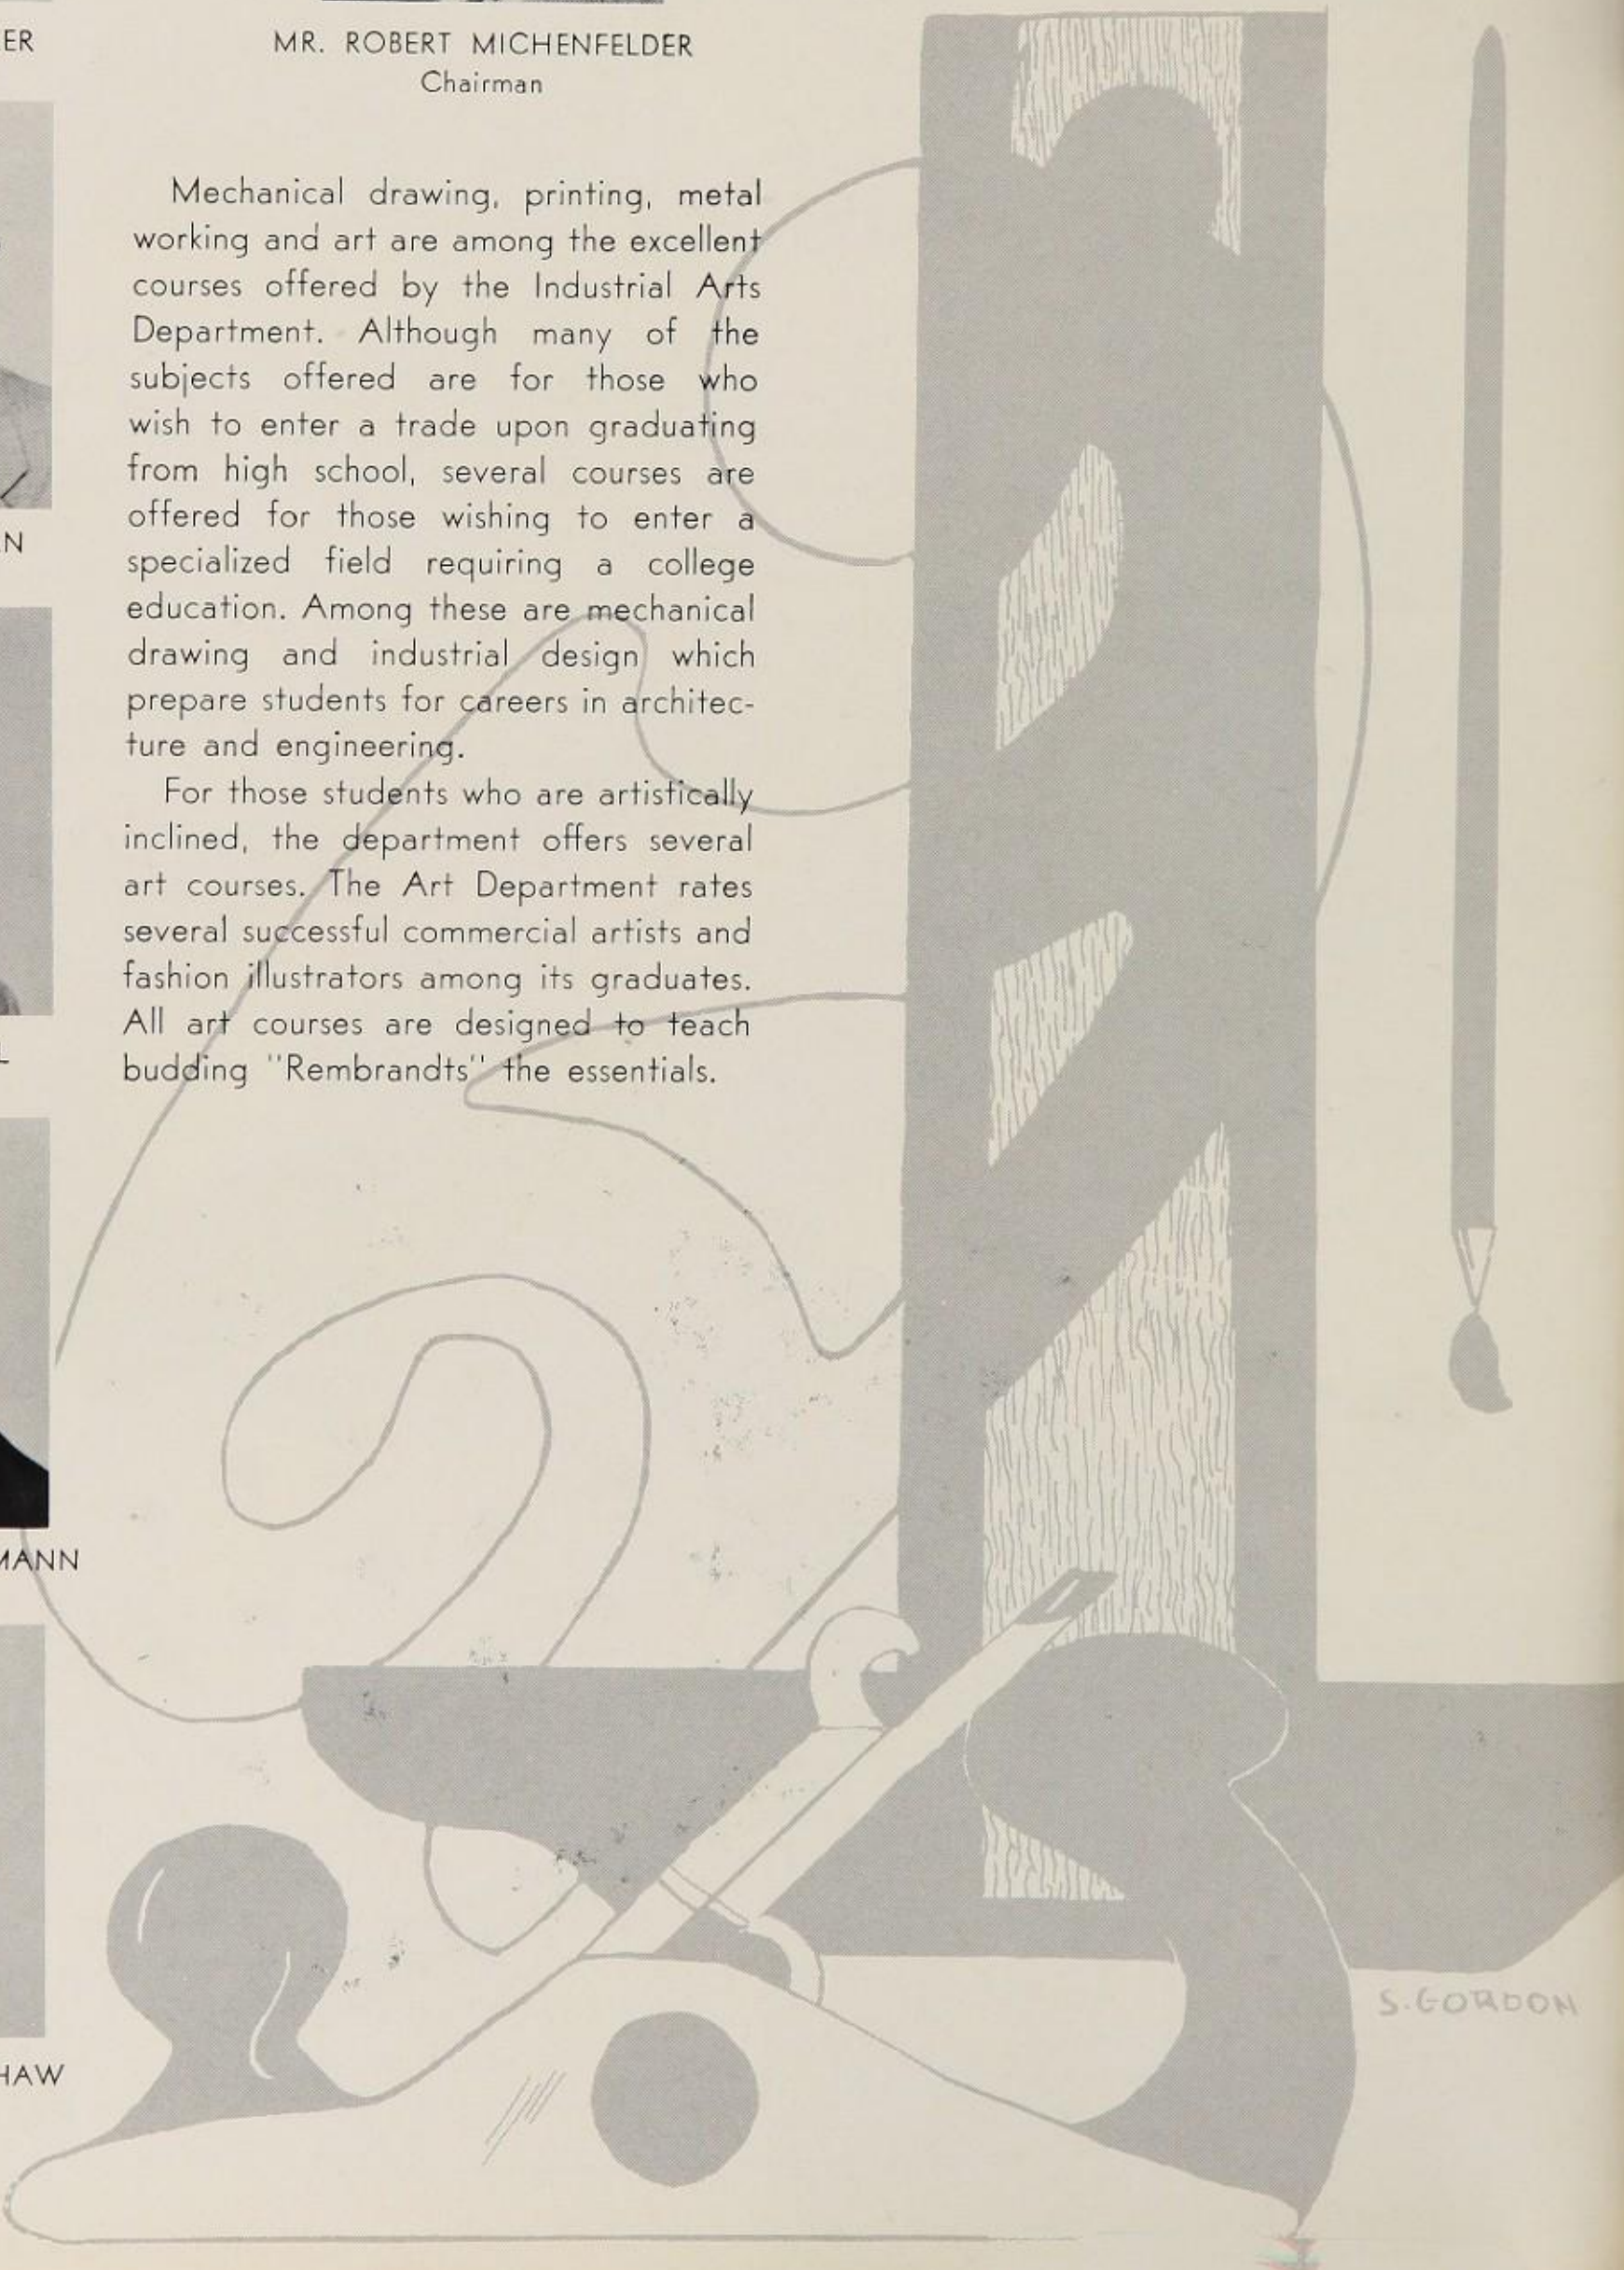

For those students who are artistically inclined, the department offers several art courses. The Art Department rates several successful commercial artists and fashion illustrators among its graduates. All art courses are designed to teach budding "Rembrandts" the essentials.

MECHANICAL DRAWING

Since its inception registration in the class has tripled. In fact, to meet the growing demands of the students, Mr. Leonard Adler, teacher of this class, has recently started a new class in Technical Sketching. It is very evident that Mechanical Drawing is a class of great value to the student body.

Do you plan on becoming an engineer? . . . an architect? . . . an interior decorator? Or do you just want a general education? The Mechanical Drawing Class is designed to meet all these requirements.

Although a great number of the students take this course as a good preparation for their future careers, many take it just to get an "all around" education, for Mechanical Drawing is not limited to a drawing board. It encompasses many fields, including science, English, and mathematics.

IN THE PRINT SHOP

Many of the cards, posters, and handbills which are circulated in our school are printed in the print shop. Many times the shop has been asked to print up tickets for G. Mr. Kable, the printing shop teacher, tries his best to give each boy a chance to operate the big presses which the school has in the printing shop.

AT THE WOOD TURNING LATHE

It is the aim of the wood shop teachers to teach every wood shop student the uses and the purposes of our natural timber. The students learn how to use saws, files, and other tools which are used in the commercial as well as domestic production of wooden products. Each student has to make several projects and these projects are the fruit of his accomplishments in the wood shop.

Metals are the foundation of our modern world. The wooden ship and the stage coach are antiques of the past. Under the able direction of Mr. Stegeman, Students in the metal shop learn about the uses and origin of the modern metals. Each student gets a chance to produce projects which can be of use to himself as well as to his home. Knowledge of metals is a very important and fruitful field, and well assimilated by the metal shop students.

How many people can fix a radio? How many can even fix a fuse? These are some of the things which students in the electrical shop learn to do. The electrical shop under the supervision of Mr. Warshaw tries to teach every student the basic principles of electricity as well as the practical applications of these principles. Students can make lamps, radio sets and various other electrical projects. Most students seem to get a large charge from electrical shop.

Since Art is not a required subject many students do not know of the great opportunities this subject offers. Even for the student who has no experience in drawing, there is a basic course to begin with. All the facilities required to fulfill the artist's every need are found in the art room.

PALETTE CLUB

The Palette Club offers a wonderful opportunity to people who enjoy participating in art activities after school. Under the capable eye and guidance of Mr. Paul Feinman the students select projects which they feel will be enjoyable and worthwhile to work on. The club encourages an appreciation of the finer art works by having the students take part in many interesting activities.

Mrs. Selma Stutchbury

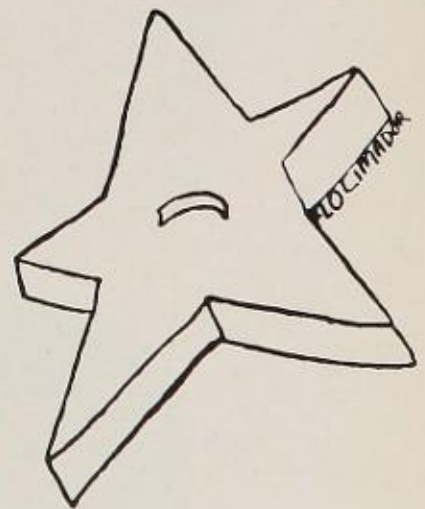

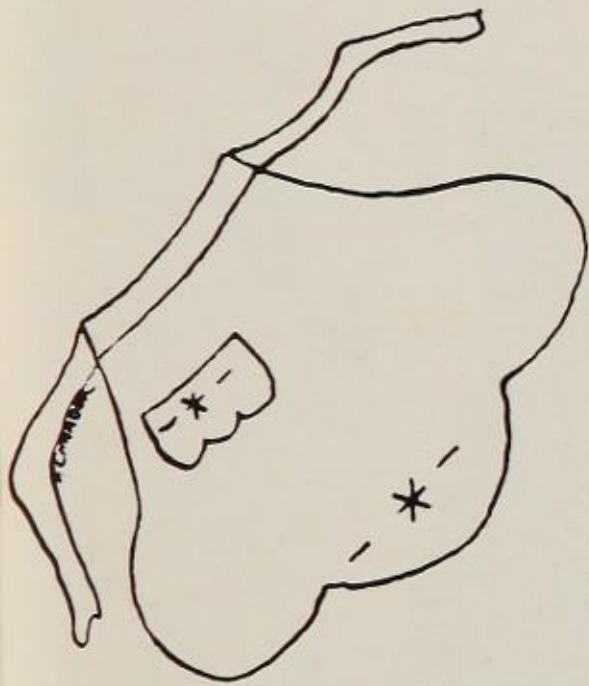

Mrs. Diane Becker

The Home Economics senior in Long Beach High School does not merely gain knowledge to store away for a day when it may be used, but she gains knowledge of practical value that she will use in every day life. The old saying, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," is well known to females throughout the world. Today girls prepare for their future when they learn how to prepare various dishes, which include anything from fancy casserole to bacon and eggs.

Another feature of our Homemaking Department is the sewing instruction which is available. Girls not only learn how to sew, but also how to save economically by sewing their own clothes.

The senior girl who has taken Home Economics which is taught by Mrs. Stutchbury, Mrs. Sobel, and Mrs. Becker, has broadened her experiences in everyday life.

Music

Through the Music Dept. at Long Beach High School, we, the Student Body gain a real appreciation for the many facets of music, from choral work to participating in the orchestra. The words tempo, pitch, and beat become natural to one's vocabulary. One's love for music seems to swell and grow. To be a well-rounded individual, it's necessary to be an informed music devotee, for music plays an important role in today's cultural life.

It was the most successful play of the 1931 season. It concerns a playboy who is sent to the West by his millionaire father in the hope that the young man will forget his fondness for alcohol and the fair sex in the wide open spaces. However, the playboy, who traveled west with a character by the name of Goldfarb, in his taxi-cab, starts a Dude Ranch in the "here-to-fore womanless town", Custerville, Arizona. Physical Education

An athlete is a person who must rely on many things which he has learned from his own experiences and those of others. He combines his strength and stamina with an equal volume of skill to produce a winning combination. Thanks to the able leadership of the Physical Education Department, our athletes can count on having half the ingredients for success, without even trying. Our physical educational system not only develops the athlete but the non-athlete as well. Each individual is given the opportunity to go out for a team and show his merit in any particular sport. Credit must be given to the Physical Education Department for keeping the student body, as a whole, healthy and active.

Through rain, sleet, snow or hail, we can always depend on the high school football team. After all, when a team practices every day after school for hours, it's very discouraging if they have to go out and play on a wet, slippery field. But our team is always pitching and, as in the past years, has come out very well. Of course besides the first team there are the boys on the bench who deserve much more credit than they receive. Why, who would have played when the Asiatic Flu struck the Long Beach High football team, if there weren't boys who were content to sit on the bench. So when we all look back and remember the football team we should always think of the entire squad.

Have you ever heard of a sport where you used your head—I mean literally used your cranium to score a point? They say that the number of bumps on your head show your degree of intelligence. If this saying is true, soccer players must have superior IQs. For this sport is one in which you may use any part of your body but your hands to get the ball past the other team. Therefore, it's really a sport where you use your head to get ahead!

A very exciting and invigorating sport is tennis. Although it has been played at L. B. H. S. for only a short time, it has proven its worth. If you desire a game that will develop a healthy body and a healthy attitude towards sportsmanship, then tennis is for you. The player bounces the ball several times, takes aim, and shoots. The gym seems to tremble as a result of the roar which follows. Another point is added to the scoreboard, and the Marines have won again!

Moments like the one just described were numerous during this year's basketball season. The hoopsters, led by their coach, Mr. Gerston, have played twelve games so far, winning ten and losing two. They are expected to play six more before the end of the season. Some of the players may go on to meet future challenges in basketball, and some may not, but all have played their hardest, and we are proud of them.

BASKETBALL TEAM

baseball

The opening of Spring means the start of baseball. Besides being an exciting game, baseball teaches the boys the meaning of good sportsmanship. A good hit, a good catch, and good sportsmanship are what keep the game alive. Many years from now, we will look back upon our days in Long Beach High School, and one of the many wonderful things we will remember is the enjoyment of watching and participating in baseball.

rifle

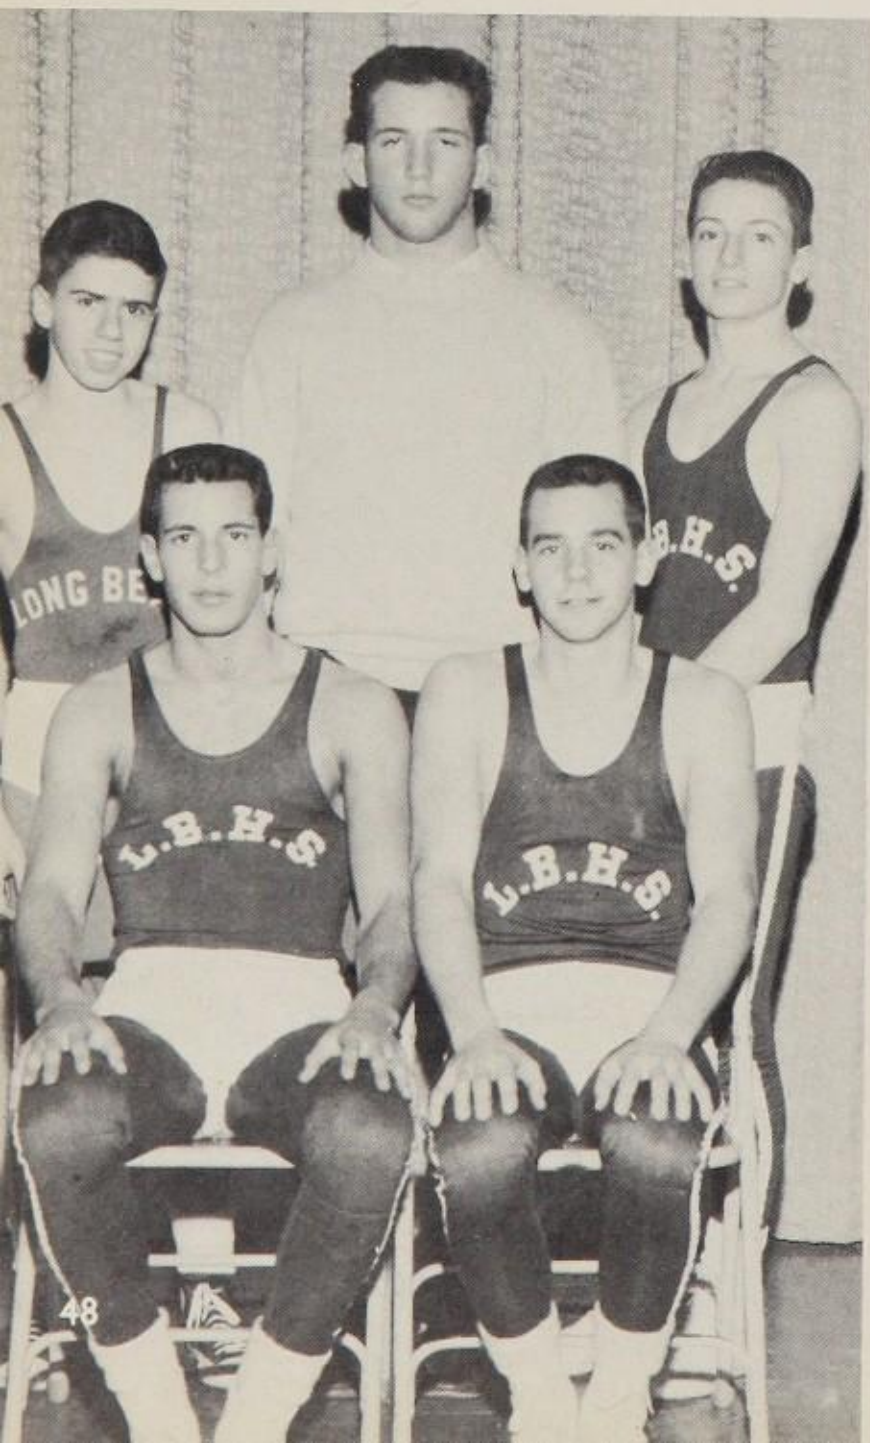

This year's rifle team, coached by Mr. John Castelli, is looking forward to winning top honors in the S. S. A. L. Section 2 championship rifle matches. In the past the "Nimrods" have always come out on top of the pack and are looking forward this year to being the undefeated champions of Section 2.

RIFLE TEAM

Practically every afternoon from November to March, oohs and ahs can be heard from the boys' gym. Also, groans, bangs and slaps of bodies hitting the floor can be heard. Don't be alarmed though, it is just the Long Beach High School Wrestling Team. Under the able instruction of Mr. Galwin, these boys do their best to represent our school. They practice diligently and although sometimes the result is not victory, you can always be sure they've put all their heart into their work. So when you pass the high school gym and hear groans, don't concern yourself. Just remember these boys don't mind the pain because they're enduring them for a good cause, Long Beach High!

WRESTLING TEAM

track

Track is a sport which requires not only stamina and strength, but also the knowledge and skill of a good coach. We at Long Beach High are privileged to have not only boys with strength and stamina but a coach who can give our boys the knowledge and skill which makes them win. Mr. Irving Gold is the coach of this year's track team and we are fortunate to have him as our track mentor.

bowling

Bowling is by far the fastest growing and most popular sport in the nation today. Bowling has virtually swept the country off its feet. Young and old, thin and stout, can and are enjoying this pleasant pasture. It offers a rare combination on a team basis, has led to the growth of leagues, not only on an inter-school level, but also in industry and everyday life. Leagues are sponsored, and win on the collective points system. The two most common words to the bowler are strike and spare, the highest amount of points one can receive when the ball strikes the pins. This year's team is, again, enthusiastically gaining its place among other competitive teams. Senior Members include Donny Piro, Billy Weiss, and Mike Glass.

DRIVING CLASS

Years from now, when we think of our high school days, one thing will always stand out in our minds—the thrill of our first driving lesson! Along with this thought will come memories of stalling the car and running out of gas. These things are all part of the Driver Education Class.

The course itself is very interesting, but the best part, by far, comes at the end of the term, when we receive our "blue cards." What a wonderful feeling to know that you have been taught to be a good, capable driver!

HUMAN RELATIONS CLASS

It is often said that school life is the foundation for our social relationships in the future. Human Relations is one course that definitely fulfills this requirement.

Through discussions and exchanges of ideas we are able to mature and adapt ourselves to our environment. Topics range from personal problems to those of national importance.

We leave the Human Relations Class with a sense of maturity, feeling better qualified to face the future.

This year, due to a growing interest in the teaching field on the part of male students at Long Beach High School, a new club was formed; a counter-part to girls F. T. A., the boys' F. T. A. Under the able guidance of Mrs. Berryman, and class leadership of Charles Shapiro, Senior boys are able to cultivate their interest in teaching. Guest speakers, prominent in specialized fields of endeavor, give demonstrations and inform the students on the many phases of teaching.

BOYS F. T. A.

GIRLS F. T. A.

girls

The F. T. A., under the supervision of Mrs. Bertha Berryman, is designed to promote interest in the teaching profession. It is open to all girls in either the Junior or Senior year of high school who feel that they would like to become teachers. During the meetings, the members present reports concerning the different aspects of the teaching field.

F N A

FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA

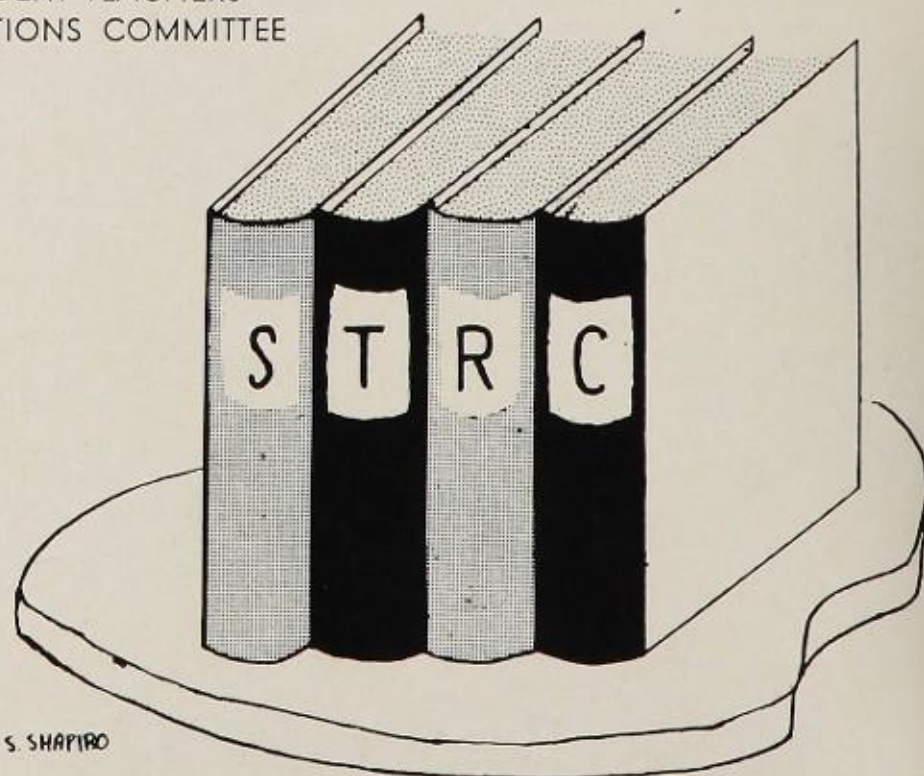

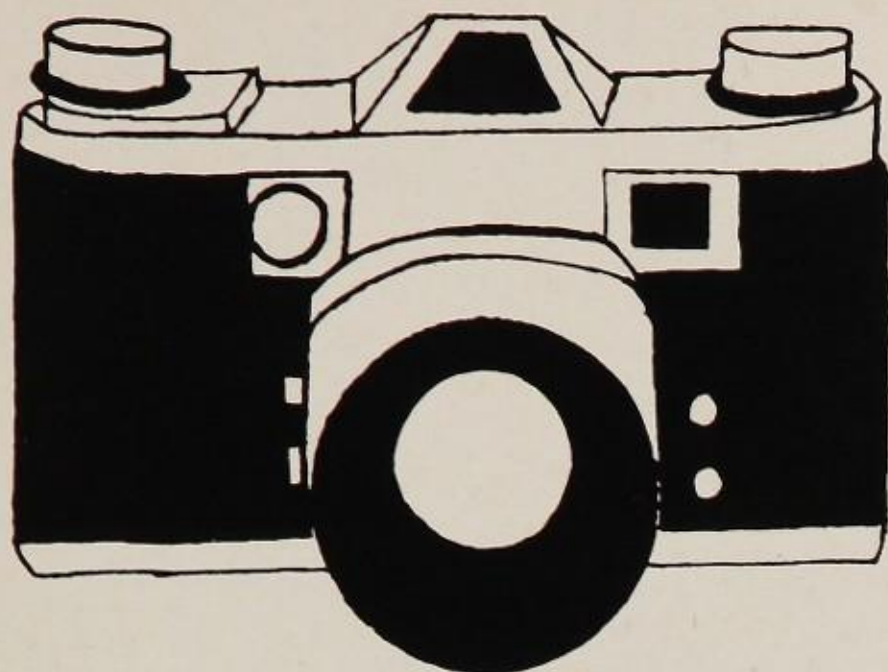

Have you ever dreamed of being a "lady in white," or the Florence Nightingale of the 20th century? Seriously though, if you find yourself interested in the nursing profession your best bet is joining the "Future Nurses of America." Under the guidance of Miss Mary Dougherty, a registered nurse herself, the club has just been established at Long Beach High School. It is open to all classes of the school and encourages girls with an interest in nursing to learn more about this very rewarding field. Therefore, if a lady in white you wish to become, join the F. N. A. and learn how to be one.

This year a new organization was formed, the Student-Teacher Relations Council. Consisting of two student representatives from each high school level, it is designed to aid students in every subject on the curriculum. The Council provides free tutoring for anyone who wants it, and acts as a clearing-house for all necessary arrangements.

Since its inception, the Council has proven itself a valuable aid to students and one very much in demand.

STUDENT TEACHERS RELATIONS COMMITTEE

camera club

In a windowless, airless, unlit room, on the third floor, work the unsung heroes of the school, the members of the Camera Club. These students are responsible for the pictorial record of all important events. They can be found, with their cameras, at dances, concerts, club meetings, sports, activities, and wherever students congregate and perform.

They begin as amateurs and end as "experts" in every aspect of photography. As you turn the pages of this book, you will find many evidences of their craft. Though they are never spurred on to excellence by the cheers of crowds, they are rewarded for their efforts by the creation of pictorial products that enable their fellow students to retain, throughout a lifetime, memories of events which might otherwise have faded and been lost.

CAMERA CLUB

... Checkmate and I've won! That is the saying that all chess players want to say. The purpose of the Chess Club at Long Beach High School is to promote an interest in the game on the part of the students. Karl Sternburg, president of the club, and his able assistant, Bruce Heckman, are attempting to do just this. Since the players only play with their equals the game is more exciting than if you played with someone who doesn't know how to play. The Chess Club is planning a Faculty vs Student game. This will surely be an event to watch for.

ARISTA

During our high school years Arista was one of the most important goals towards which we were striving. Arista grants membership to those students with a cumulative average of 85 after their first two years.

The symbol of Arista is a five pointed star.

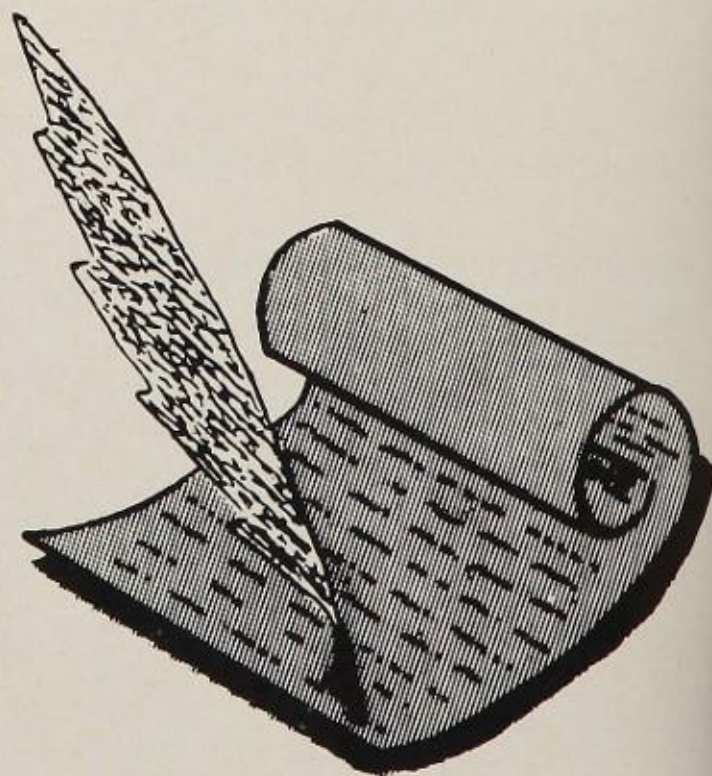

These points represent scholarship, citizenship, leadership, brotherhood and character.

Under the leadership of Mr. Langdon Walrath, the members of Arista seek to improve the school as well as to broaden their own interests.

COLOR GUARD

As we look at the color guard squad on the stage of our high school, we take pride; pride because we know that this squad represents the most American thing possible. The squad also contributes to the spirit of the entire school.

The six poised and neatly uniformed members

A school without some sort of discipline would be complete chaos. Through our four years of high school we have seen many boys and girls, under the guidance of Mr. Gordon, keep the halls under control. The conscientious monitors keep a watchful of the color guard advance to honor our flag at the beginning of all our assemblies.

A great deal of thanks should be given to the color guard and its adviser, Mr. Greenberg, for bringing the message of Americanism to us.

eye on the students so that they should not run or push in the halls or go up or down the wrong stairway. The traffic squad, with its captains, have kept order in the halls of our high school.

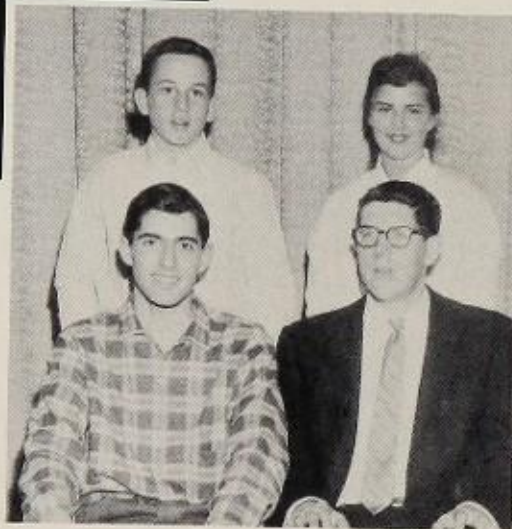

TRAFFIC SQUAD

traffic squad

Our school spirit has been aroused by the reorganization of the Booster Club. Membership has increased to over 400 and sponsoring activities such as pep rallies, and dances have made this a most successful year financially. For the first time Booster Buttons were sold. This idea was proposed by Booster Chairmen, Lynne Hausman and Barry Kaplan. A visit to Teen Bandstand, a television program, and sponsoring the International Hop for our visiting exchange students, highlighted the year.

G. O. OFFICES

Our school's General Organization is led by the executive council. The council is made up of the G. O. President, Joel Goldstein, Vice President, Jessie Auerbach, Secretary, Fran Bauer, Treasurer, Biddie Costigan, Parliamentarian, Bob Siegel, Booster Chairmen, Lynne Hausman and Barry Kaplan, and student adviser, Lexy Felds. Decisions and rules that our school democracy is run on are organized and carried through by this council.

SENIOR COUNCIL

Upon entering high school, we the class of '58 realized that we were becoming adults, who'd eventually take on more and more responsibilities. Thus, we decided to found and elect a Freshman Council. This, though frightening at first, was the basic start of our class participation in our upper-class years of high school. The Sophomore and Junior Council continued these basic concepts of choosing officers who'd direct the activities of our class. In addition, as the councils became more experienced they learned the meaning of Democracy and the use of the free vote. The Senior Council, of course, continues and strives to work for the benefit of the senior class and student body, itself. The prom, dances, and all extra-curricular activities are part of the duties which the council attends to. The able members of the Senior Council are as follows: President Steve Wolin; Vice President Dave Martin; Secretary Sharon Schechter; Treasurer Dave Kesselman. All have worked together for the success of the class of '58.

senior play

One of the things students look forward to every year is the Senior Play. At that time the school auditorium becomes a theater and everyone is transported to the magical world of bright lights and gala entertainment. This year the members of the Senior Class presented "Harvey," an amusing tale of a charming, though invisible, rabbit.

The members of the cast earned much applause for their delightful performances. Special thanks to Mr. Burt Wolsky for the time and effort he put into the presentation to make it the success it was.

Class Will

Jerry Schlissel and Stue Bernstein leave their brains to science.

The Senior class leaves Ralph Isaacs thanks for "a job well done."

Sue R., Marilyn S., Sue F., and Joni Z. leave a route to school free from stop signs, traffic lights, and traffic to all drivers who have difficulty getting to school on time.

Alvin G. leaves to Mr. Witoff a book entitled: "How to Teach Chemistry in 10 easy lessons" in return for his book: "How to flunk your class in 3 easy lessons."

Barry K. leaves Lynn H. saying "shut up yourself."

Sharon, Eleanor, Hazel, Maddy, Joan, Nancy and Rosie leave their freshman sisters to carry on the family tradition.

Barbara Fensterheim leaves an easy chair and a good book to any girl who goes with a boy playing in a band.

The senior girls leave Mr. Adler, Mr. Andrews and Dr. Shanker with regrets.

Barbara Hyams leaves Mrs. Zilleson "thanks" for boosting her average.

The Senior Play cast and crew leave Mr. Wolsky with the memories of a large white rabbit.

Joel Lutwin leaves a book entitled: "How to Convince People You're Great."

The bowling team leaves Mr. Santay a "No Smoking" sign for the station wagon.

Jeff P. leaves Mrs. Ables his permanent late pass.

Ellen Schatz leaves her geometry book, guaranteed never used.

Mr. Schultz's third period chemistry class leaves him a book of ready made check-minuses (V-) and check-plus (V+) and B's so his supply will never run out.

Gail K., Louise L. and Judy K. leave Vera to follow in their footsteps.

Lynn H. leaves Barry K. with the saying, "anything you did, I did better."

Barry H., Eddie E., and Skippy H. leave the Channel Inn Ice Cream Parlour to the next year's football team.

Carole Selby and Linda Feinrider leave behind their good intentions to go on a diet.

George Balabus leaves Dr. Kuhn a "Sherlock Holmes Kit".

Marian and Steve leave to future couples a book entitled: "How to fake out Mr. Bernstein."

Sue R. leaves the next President of Phi Delta a course on how to get the faculty to approve of pledging in school.

Mr. Thier's Physics students leave him a motor-powered stool for faster spins.

The track team leaves Mr. Gold a box of cigars.

The Special English Class leaves to its frustrated substitutes "prodigality."

Mady Kahn leaves Ronnie Birch a pair of strong glasses.

Sharon S. leaves Mr. Bernstein a new victim, her sister Brenda.

The Spanish students leave Dr. Samuels an automatic "F" machine.

The girls of the Attendance Office leave Dr. Kuhn a clean blotter.

Homeroom 12-6 leaves Mr. Ritaccio a book entitled: "Dictatorship Made Easy."

The girls in Mr. Greenberg's 4th period History class leave telling him, "You don't have that right approach."

Rosalie L. and Enid K. leave Mr. Feinman with the thought: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Carole Selby leaves Bruce K. a book entitled: "I thought I was a teenage wonder until . . ."

Fern Davis, Nancy Appel and Ruth Glicksman leave Mr. Welch, wishing it could have been sooner.

The "Echo" staff leaves Mr. Feinman many thanks for his wonderful help.

The 4th year French class leaves Madame Levoy two chocolate sandwiches.

The Senior Class leaves Dr. Elkin a private entrance.

Joel L. and Sully B. leave Mr. Dubow a red kilt to go with his red beanie.

The Senior tennis players leave Mr. Berglass and Mr. Kirsch, their competent coaches, a book entitled: "Tennis in 10 easy lessons".

Karen L. leaves her key to the dark room to any girl brave enough to use it.

Mrs. Berryman's 8th period C-4 class leaves her "surprise tests" to any underclassman lucky enough to pass them.

Sharon S. leaves one slightly-used Scrabble game to Becky L. if she is foolish enough to want it.

Fran Nystad leaves Mr. Berglass, Mr. Bernstein, and Mr. Kirsch hardy thanks for trying.

The Solid Geometry class leaves Mr. Greenbaum a new book so he can memorize a brand new set of pages.

Fran B. leaves next year's G. O. Secretary a book entitled: "How to antagonize a President."

Mady Kahn leaves her sister Steffi to "Tricky Dick", their cuz, with these words of wisdom: "Grin and bear it."

The Senior members of the Library Staff leave Mr. Murphy a book entitled: "Charades for one can be fun."

Sully B. leaves his sister Vivian a book of phoney passes.

The Senior submarine-watchers leave box seats to promising Juniors.

Ellen Thaler and Karen Liptzin leave Mr. Kirsch a bottle of aspirins to ease the many headaches they caused him.

The Senior Class leaves Mrs. Klages and "Doc" Galowin a college for every student.

The Senior Girls leave Mr. Adler invitations to their 18th birthdays.

Stue B., the last of the "Fups", leaves fast cars to the boys at L. B. H. S.

Jon, Steve, and Bill leave Mrs. Stutchbury a cold casserole and salty dumplings.

Fran Borsuk leaves the name "Mike" to anyone who wants to be confused.

Sharon S. leaves the next Senior Class Secretary the advice: "If You Can't Fight 'em, join 'em."

The G. O. Executive Council leaves their Booster Heads, Lynn H. and Barry K., free tickets to the basketball games—maybe then they will attend.

The Seniors leave the driving teachers with a good case of Ulcers.

The Fragments Staff—Marcie, Sue, Ronnie and Mike—leave Mr. Harrison a book entitled: "Democracy, and who Has the Controlling Vote."

Sharon S. leaves Dave K. the hope that he will recover the Senior Play tickets and leaves him his bail in case he doesn't.

Barry K. leaves strawberry sodas with vanilla fudge ice cream for anyone who wants to attract attention.

Fred H., Joni Z., Bonnie F., and Dave K. leave their senior memberships in the Car Crash Corporation to any Juniors willing to join.

Mr. Witoff's 4th period class leaves him a bromine bomb—in his car.

Barry B., Bary K., Jerry G., and Shael S. leave a car without an emergency brake for any boy wishing to have fun at a drive-in movie.

The first period Latin class leaves Dr. Eckstein all the "minus threes" they owe him.

Ruth G., Caroline F., and Judy K. leaves Senorita with this thought: "What you don't know won't hurt you—Senior Homeroom is only once a week."

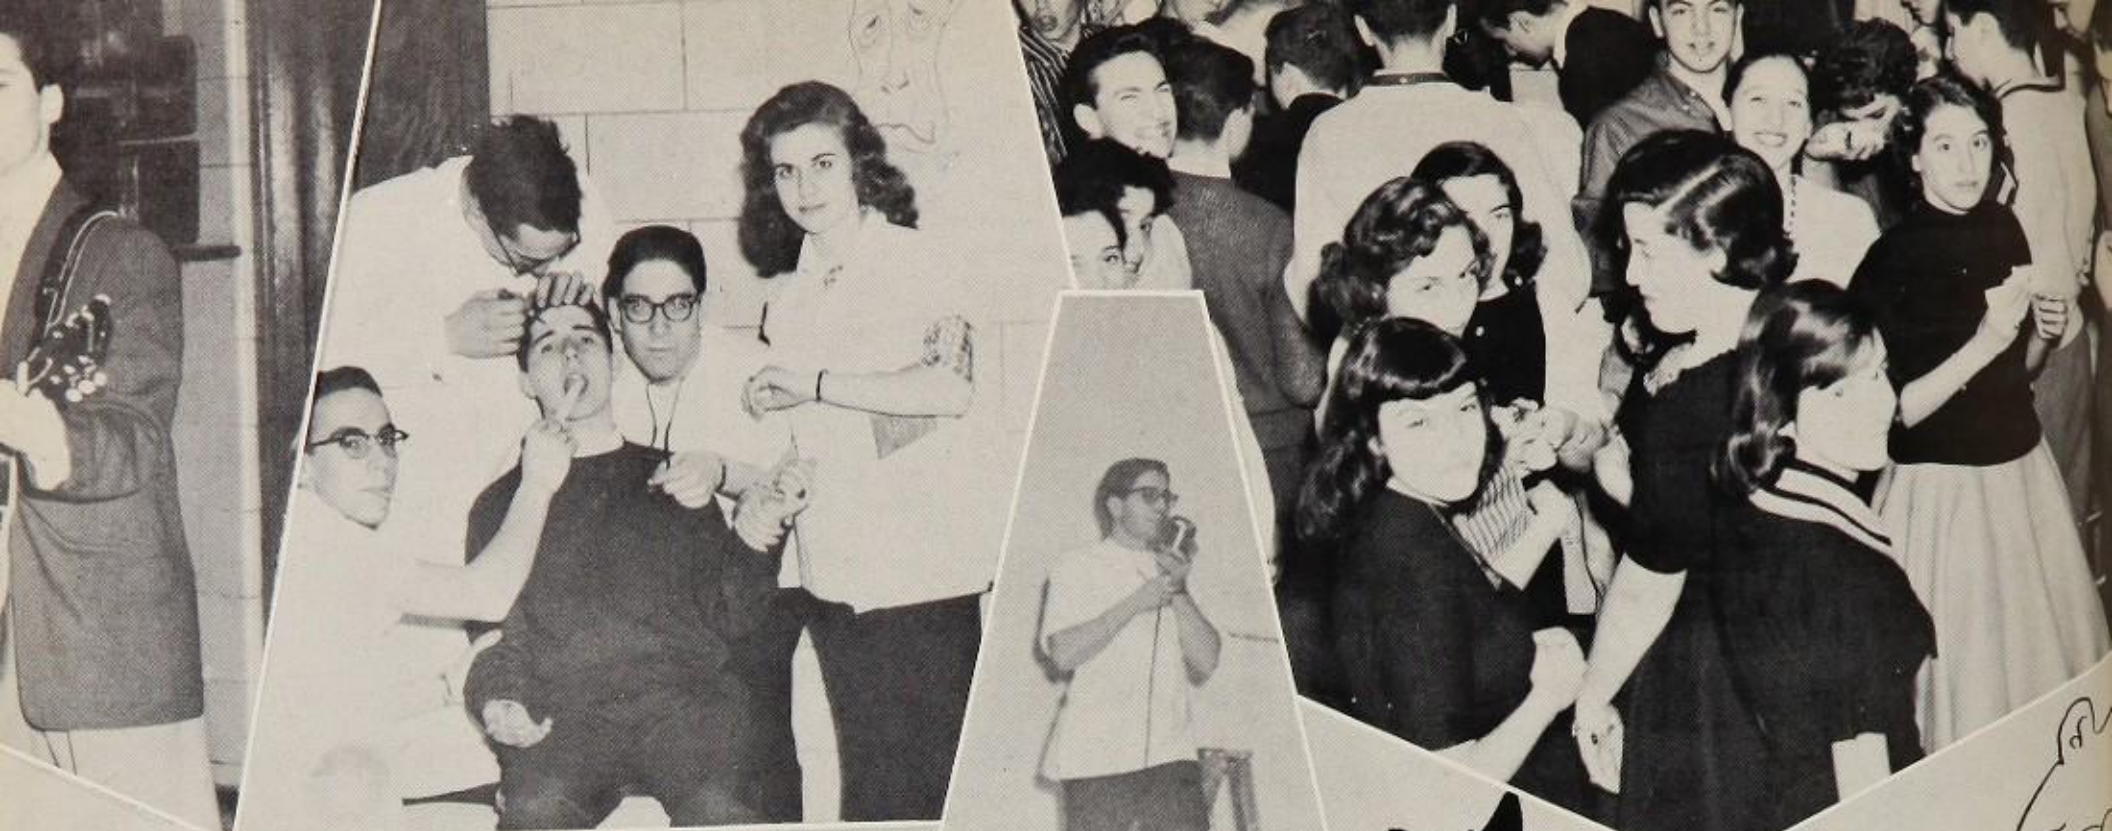

Joel Kohut leaves the teachers with this thought: "There are five more to come, you lucky people."

The Senior Class leaves Mr. Graff a box of detention slips.

Mady K., Warren H., and Sharon S. leave Mr. Harrison with a quiet 7th period.

The Senior Class leaves Mr. McDonough and Mr. Graff wishes for good health.

The Senior Class leaves their thanks and best wishes to the entire Faculty for their guidance during the past four years.
